

If you think organic food
is boring, try our duck

If you thought that organic food is lentils and broccoli, try our organic duck with organic duck sausage, orange, pistachio, spicy Moroccan cabbage and apple. Then work your way through the rest of the menu.

You'll discover that our slow-cooked, chemical, preservative and additive free food is as one food reviewer wrote, 'blisteringly divine'.

Of course we also have lentils and broccoli, they just taste better here.

The Peasants Feast, where organic food is what it's quacked up to be.

Peasants  Feast

Australia's only certified organic restaurant

The only restaurant that's been completely certified

(Are these people mad?)

Clinical Immunologist Dr Robert Warlow is so adamant that chemicals are a major threat to our health that he created The Peasants Feast, Australia's only restaurant that's Australian Certified Organic.

That means that everything from the produce to the finished meal is free of hormones, antibiotics, genetic engineering and chemicals. It's such a tough process no other restaurant has attempted it.

So is Dr. Warlow mad?

No, he's obsessed with making sure that the food you eat at The Peasants Feast is as good for your health as it is for your tastebuds.

This restaurant believes the future is organic

(Don't they know there's money in chemicals?)

The Peasants Feast believes that organic food is the hope of the future. Not only because it tastes better but because it's been grown without chemicals, is safe for your family and is good for the earth.

So when you eat at The Peasants Feast look forward to a delicious, organic, slow-cooked, chemical free experience.

The Peasants Feast.
The place to go where the food not only tastes as good as it's grown but is safe for your family.
